Konstanz, Germany, 16th-17th March: Exploring Process Drama - Spring Workshop & Spa

Bern: ELT Springboard, 7th March

ELT SPRINGBOARD

Someone says, "It's warm in here." Does that mean I should open the window? Is the person coming on to me? What does this mean? How is context involved?

Come join us next Thursday, on 7th March at 8pm at Tibits Gurtengasse in Bern (about 200 meters from the main station). Beyond linguistic and psychological theory, we are sharing practical ways to handle meaning and context in language teaching. Even if it's been a while or you've never come to an ELT Springboard meeting, come share your expertise or get some tips and inspiration!

Please RSVP so we know to expect you. You can leave a comment on the blog or send us an email. If you're in the Springboard WhatsApp group, you can also drop a line there.

Lausanne: Early Years Special Interest Group

Having perceived a scarcity of networking opportunities for primary and nursery school instructors, Sally Murphy (murphy.sally@edu.ensr.ch), a member of ETAS Vaud, has been inspired to start up a local SIG group for teachers of English (and other languages) that focuses on Early Years education. She longs to create regular opportunities to meet and exchange ideas with other teachers from this context.

She and some colleagues at École Nouvelle in Lausanne will have their first meet-up on 7th March at a restaurant in the Lausanne main station. If you're interested in joining them, please check the ETAS website for more detailed information!
